

WHAT'S IN OUR SOIL?

We have different soil blends for different types of terrariums. This is because our types of plants have different needs.

After determining the common pH requirements for all the plants we sell, we decided to create soil blends that had not only the ideal pH, but also held enough water and nutrients to feed our plants while allowing the needed structure and drainage to keep their roots healthy.

We researched a host of ingredients used in soil mixes to reach our goals, keeping in mind that the bottom line needed to reach certain pH levels for our different soil types. And VOILA! We now have two substrate medium blends we use in our mossariums, a different blend for our fiber optic terrariums, and another for our closed terrariums.

So, when we give you the “dirt,” it’s absolutely the best we could come up with!
